To consider courses as Interdisciplinary in nature

Interdisciplinary nature of the course is not explicitly discussed in the academic council meeting because programs are governed by statutory regulatory bodies and content of the course is bound by their guidelines. List of interdisciplinary courses enclosed.

Several courses are offered under various programs of the academy which are Interdisciplinary in nature because the content addresses the knowledge, methods, and skills from different disciplines. The content is taught by teachers from a different faculty, and students are posted for training under various departments. The course has different papers which has combination of many subjects.

Maximum efforts are made to encourage integrated teaching and attempts are made to de-emphasize compartmentalization of disciplines so as to achieve horizontal and vertical integration in different phases as per the regulation of the concerned programs. The interdisciplinary courses of Academic programs is listed in the Annexure.
